

Indiana Preview:

Overall: Indiana has a sub-par year only winning 3 total games. They were not able to get anything going offensively. the defensive let in too many points for the offensive to stay in it.

Offensive: The offensive could not move the ball as no one on the entire team was over the 500 total yard mark. With this said their top passer only had 449 total yards and only 3 touchdowns on the year through 10 games. Their rushing game was not any better as their top rusher had only 242 total yards. They averaged 15.8 points a game you cannot win with that. When offensive Can't click like that it hurts the defense.

Defense: The defense played as well as the offensive. They averaged 35 points against a game this cannot happen when your team can barely put up two touchdowns a game.

Overall: I do not expect this team to do very well as their schedule is hard this year. What they should focus on this year is a scheme that fits their team the best. They should completely scrap last year and restart.
