

Kiski Cavaliers

Last year's Overview: Last year The Cavaliers had a little bit of a rough year. They went 6-4 overall and had one win in conference play.

Offense overview: Last year the Cavaliers turned over at QB in only week 4. Their QB that came in had over 1,000 yards passing and 200 with his legs. This team started to rely more on the pass than they wanted to in the beginning. With all they still struggled to put up the necessary points that their defense kept letting in. They averaged 25 points per game which is not bad at all for a young team

Defense: The Cavalier's defense was averaged the best. They lost a couple of games when the offense could not put any points up. They averaged 25 points in a game which is a little high but too bad.

Overall: This upcoming year they are retaining key players on both sides of the ball. They will retain their all-conference wide receiver, Isaiah Gonzalez. On top of Isaiah, they retain three other key receivers. They retain their promising QB this year which will play in an offense that relies more on the pass. On the defense side, they will be centered around strong safety Brennan Moore who has offers from D1 and D2. Their offense is key for this season with them all being so young.

Last year schedule

Date	Team	Score
08-27	vs. Butler	W 21-7
09-03	vs. Franklin Regional	W 24-14
09-10	@ Greater Latrobe	W 35-27
09-17	vs. Connellsville	W 41-7
09-24	vs. West Allegheny	W 7-0
10-01	@ North Hills	L 14-10
10-08	vs. Fox Chapel	L 35-21
10-15	@ Shaler	W 42-27
10-22	@ Pine-Richland	L 33-27
10-29	vs. Penn Hills	L 42-22

This years schedule

Date	Team
08-25	vs. Plum
09-01	@ Pine-Richland
09-08	vs. Laurel Highlands
09-15	@ Hampton
09-22	vs. North Catholic
09-29	@ Indiana
10-06	vs. Mars
10-13	@ Highlands
10-20	@ Fox Chapel
10-27	vs. Armstrong

Season predictions	7-3
--------------------	-----